Gospel Reflection – Matthew 5:17–37: In today’s Gospel, Jesus reminds us that He did not come to abolish the Law, but to fulfill it. He invites us to go deeper than simply following rules on the outside. What matters to Jesus is the heart. Jesus teaches that it is not enough to avoid outward sin; we are called to examine our thoughts, intentions, and attitudes. Anger, resentment, lust, and dishonesty can harm relationships even before any action takes place. The Lord calls us to a righteousness rooted in love, integrity, and truth. This Gospel challenges us to live our faith sincerely. When our words are truthful, our actions honest, and our hearts pure, we become true witnesses of God’s Kingdom in everyday life. Riflessione sul Vangelo – Matteo 5, 17–37 : Nel Vangelo di oggi, Gesù ci ricorda che non è venuto ad abolire la Legge, ma a portarla a compimento. Egli ci invita ad andare oltre l’osservanza esterna delle regole e a guardare al cuore. Gesù insegna che non basta evitare il peccato esteriormente; siamo chiamati a purificare i nostri pensieri, le nostre intenzioni e i nostri atteggiamenti. Rabbia, rancore, desideri disordinati e mancanza di sincerità feriscono le relazioni ancora prima delle azioni. Questo Vangelo ci invita a vivere una fede autentica. Quando le nostre parole sono vere, le nostre azioni giuste e il nostro cuore sincero, diventiamo segni vivi del Regno di Dio nella vita di ogni giorno.
